Prego is synonymous with quality, traditional Italian food. The arrival of Chef Giampaolo Maffini, the new chef on the block, will only serve to further enhance the reputation.

The porcini mushroom soup is a burst of mushroom flavours, chockfull of fresh, springy mushrooms and the texture of the soup is neither too thin nor thick. The bean soup, albeit considered a very Italian starter, may prove to be a tad too heavy for some. Pasta dishes are one of the star features of the menu. Try the spaghetti Alla Santa Lucia if you favour light, faint seafood taste which does not overpower. Highly recommended is the black ink noodles with crabmeat and asparagus, for the fettucine is freshly made(the crab meat from Alaska is particularly sweet due to the cold weather there). Those who prefer a seafood affair should opt for the mixed grilled seafood and vegetables, where the combination of Norwegian salmon, codfish and scallops as well as zucchini is done in a manner that enhances the natural taste.

Italians are well known for their pleasing selection of desserts. The nougat parfait is not suffusingly sweet and camouflages the sinful calories with light cream and a generous dose of nuts. Lovers of berries will be entranced by the summer pudding made from berries and served with custard cream. Lastly, the Prego tiramisu is a must-have. Who can resist the temptation of that kahlua taste and mascarpone cheese?
